

Susan Gaztañaga

Libertarian for Governor of Maryland

PRESS RELEASE – September 2, 2010

Libertarian Gubernatorial Candidate Susan Gaztañaga in Greenbelt and College Park

Libertarian candidate for Governor, Susan Gaztañaga, will have an information table at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival, Information Day, at the Roosevelt Center on Saturday, September 4, 2010 from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The following day, Sunday, September 5, 2010, she will be the featured speaker at a meeting 6 p.m. at Phillips-Kleiner VFW Post 5627, 5051 Branchville Road, College Park.

Gaztañaga recently appeared on WBAL Radio's Ron Smith show, where she said that she was counting on whoever wins the Democrat and Republican primaries to "do the right thing" and include her in any debates they have, along with any other gubernatorial candidates who qualify to be on the ballot in the general election.

Gaztañaga has built her campaign around three key points: eliminating the state sales tax in eight years, ordering the Maryland National Guard home from the two illegal and unconstitutional wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, and appointing a State Superintendent of Police who will issue carry permits to any qualified applicant.

Following Greenbelt Labor Day Festival on Saturday, she will join Libertarian candidates for US Congress, state and local office at the State Fair in Timonium, Maryland. The group will gather just outside the Fair entrance at the Timonium Light Rail Station at 7 p.m. and enter the Fair together.

The Libertarian Party is the third-largest political party in America and Maryland, founded in 1971. According to Board of Elections statistics, there were 8,600 registered Libertarians in Maryland at the end of July 2010.
